PENNSYLVANIA BILLITER LINES

Descendants of Joseph Billiter, the Boat Builder on the Monongahela

Flourished Belle Vernon, PA 1800-1820, b (where?) 1765-1774

by Jim Billiter - Jim@Billiter.com

Joseph Billiter lived from the 1790's into the 1820's along the Monongahela River near where Interstate 70 now crosses it in the Pennsylvania town of Belle Vernon, aptly named for its beautiful vistas from the 200-300 foot heights above the river plain. In the heyday of keelboats and flatboats on 'western waters' (rivers west of the eastern continental divide) my great-great-great grandfather built some of those boats. He was also the first ferryman of the town, probably working with help from his wife (unknown), sons, and daughters, all within shouting distance of the present I-70 crossing.

Joe the Boat Builder was buried in Belle Vernon's first cemetery on Gould Hill, but his and many other graves were destroyed by developers probably in the early 1900's, as my brother, Ralph, and I sadly discovered on a visit there about 1990. Those developers (who should be thirteen times cursed with guilt) likely invented the fiction that the housing over Joe's grave in 'Seldom Seen' had been built over an Indian burial ground, as told to us around 1990 by the current owner-landlady. As if destruction of an Indian burial ground was in some way less dishonorable to the remains of the dead! Ralph and I informed her that the property rested on Belle Vernon's first cemetery, wherein our ancestors formerly reposed.

In Belle Vernon's favor we must gratefully commend and thank all the friendly residents who helped Ralph and me, complete strangers, in our ultimately futile quest for Joe's grave: a police lieutenant, the mayor, workers at the 'new' cemetery, librarians, and even some folks at the motel where we stayed overnight.

The errors in this genealogy are mine or those of the other contributors. We would appreciate corrections. Please support your corrections with transcribed sources or a cogent rationale. Like: Person x cannot possibly be born before her father, you dunce!

Additions also would be most welcome; many of Joe the Boat Builder's progeny are not yet included here.

Descendants of Joseph Butler, the First Butler on the Monongahela

Flourished Belle Vernon, PA 1869-1870, b (where?) 1765-1775

by the Editor - J. Edgar Hoover

Joseph Butler first came to the Monongahela River in 1765, when he was 20 years old. He was a young man, full of energy and ambition, and he was determined to make his mark on the world. He was a member of the first generation of the Butler family to settle on the Monongahela River, and he was the first to build a house on the site of the present-day town of Belle Vernon. He was a man of many talents, and he was a man of many accomplishments. He was a man of many talents, and he was a man of many accomplishments.

For the first Butler was buried in Belle Vernon's first cemetery on October 11, 1870, and his wife Mary was buried there on October 12, 1870. They were both buried in the same grave, and they were both buried in the same grave. They were both buried in the same grave, and they were both buried in the same grave. They were both buried in the same grave, and they were both buried in the same grave.

In Belle Vernon's first cemetery, we found many graves, and we found many graves. We found many graves, and we found many graves. We found many graves, and we found many graves. We found many graves, and we found many graves. We found many graves, and we found many graves.

The graves in the cemetery are very old, and they are very old. They are very old, and they are very old. They are very old, and they are very old. They are very old, and they are very old. They are very old, and they are very old.

Additional graves would be found, many of them, many of them. Many of them, many of them. Many of them, many of them. Many of them, many of them. Many of them, many of them.

From the records of the cemetery, we found many graves, and we found many graves. We found many graves, and we found many graves. We found many graves, and we found many graves. We found many graves, and we found many graves.

Open questions

Whence came Joe the Boat Builder? Is he descended from the earlier Joseph Billiter who arrived in Maryland in 1671? Or maybe from an undiscovered Swiss immigrant to Pennsylvania around 1725?

We have good pointers to Hugh and Solomon Billiter, grandsons of Joe the Boat Builder through his first son Joseph, who 'went down the river' to Brown Co, Ohio in the 1820's. Joe Jr married Elizabeth Schaffer. I have not included my scant amount of information about Joe Jr's line because I suspect that other researchers probably have many more details. Would they kindly offer up a gedcom file beginning with Joe Jr to this effort?

27. Peter BILLITER (John , Joseph) was born 15 Nov 1862 in Paden City, Tyler, Virginia, USA. He died 27 Dec 1927 in Columbus, Franklin, Ohio, USA and was buried in Columbus, Franklin, Ohio, USA.

Buried Greenlawn cemetery lot # 61 sec. 42.

There is much confusion about Peter's birth date. See Simms report.

According to the Columbus City Directory: 1887 Painter; 1889 Painter; 1893 Clerk; 1897 Laborer; 1898 Clerk; 1901 Clerk; 1902 Clerk; 1904 Meat Cutter; 1906 Meat Market; 1910 Meat Market; 1914 Meats @ Central Market; 1915 Essie's Meats @ Central Market; 1918 Butcher; 1920 Butcher.

He seems to have died fairly affluent. Because his father was dying, James Russell Billiter Jr. was administering Peter's third wife's (Essie's) estate in 1947. Jim reached the mattress in which Essie has secreted Peter's savings too late, Essie's brothers had removed it first. Jim, Bob and Pauline received only "a couple hundred dollars". This according to Robert Charles Billiter and Jim's wife, Virginia Reeb (Billiter) Butler.

Lots of good dirt is available from Etta Allen's divorce suit from Peter in 1898. Jerry Billiter is a defendant, and this lends to Peter's existence in the John Billiter/Lucy Crow family; Jeremiah was a child listed in the 1860 census for Tyler County, WV. The suit mentions that Jerry was visiting Peter's house in 1898 for a week.

Peter married (1) Mary SOUTHARD, daughter of Job Russell SOUTHARD and Helena M UNDERWOOD, about 12 Sep 1888 in Columbus, Franklin, Ohio, USA. Mary was born 1862 in Ross, Ohio, USA. She died 29 Jul 1894 in Franklin, Ohio, USA and was buried in Columbus, Franklin, Ohio, USA.

Buried Greenlawn cemetery lot # 61 sec. 42.

Died of consumption about one month after Raymond Billiter was born.

Peter and Mary had the following children:

90 F i Leoda BILLITER was born 19 Oct 1888 in Columbus, Franklin, Ohio, USA.

Leoda's birth certificate: b. 10/19/1888, Father: Peter Billiter, Mother: Mary Southard, Marion Twp. (same Twp as James R. (Jesse) and Lester).

Marriage records of Franklin County: Lena Billiter is 21 on 10/19/1911, Father Peter Billiter, Mother: Mary Southard, Lena was not previously married. M. on 1/20/1912 to Lovey (no shit! (this from Ralph Paul Billiter)) Garner age 26 on 4/15/1911. Father: Leo W. Garner, Mother: Angeline Decker.

1910 Ohio census soundex lists Lena Billiter, 19, Columbus with Joseph R. Southard.

Leoda married James Lovey GARNER, son of Leo W GARNER and Angeline DECKER, on 20 Jan 1912 in Columbus, Franklin, Ohio, USA. James was born about 15 Apr 1885.

Peter Billiter's short obit. mentions Mrs. James Garner as a survivor of Peter. Lovey) Garner is from the marriage record.

[Karen.FTW]

William was adopted out as an infant to a Swiss immigrant couple, Peter and Elizabeth Rahm. Their daughter, Caroline, had died and the couple wanted a child. Tradition says they gave the poverty-stricken Hayes' a cow in exchange for William. William kept his family name and he also knew well his brothers and sisters. William's son, Harry, said he remembered William's father, Samuel, coming to visit him. William also had a picture and a portrait of his mother, Susan.

MARYLAND BILLITER LINES

Descendants of Joseph Billiter, 'Old Joe', and Elizabeth Fuller

Flourished Maryland and Delmarva in the late 1600's

by Jim Billiter - Jim@Billiter.com

Joseph Billiter lived from 1671 to his death about 1687 on Maryland's Eastern Shore on the Delmarva Peninsula.

[This version is a skeleton site for testing Web access a/o December 2000. Much more information will be added in the coming weeks and months.]

Please note that this genealogy of Old Joe Billiter's descendants includes only the first five generations, into the early 1800's. Enter it at the 'Contents' link below.

Old Joe's genealogy is continued beyond the first five generations and into the present for about 1300 descendants and spouses of Joseph Billiter, 'The Boat Builder' (b c 1770 and m Sarah Seward, fl PA 1800-1825). Joe the Boat Builder is s/o Edward, s/o Edward, s/o Old Joe Billiter. See this continuation of one of Old Joe's great-great grandson's progeny at PENNSYLVANIA BILLITER LINES.

Errors in this genealogy are mine or those of the other contributors. We would appreciate corrections. Please support your corrections with transcribed sources or a cogent rationale. Like: Person x cannot possibly be born before her father, you dunce!

Additions also would be most welcome; many of Old Joe's immediate descendants are unknown.

Descendants of Joseph Billiter, 'Old Joe', and Elizabeth Fuller, Fl Maryland 1671-1687

First Generation

1. Joseph BILLITER died in 1687 in MD, USA.

"The Early Settlers of Maryland" by Skordas shows the record of Joseph Billiter [affectionately condensed to "Old Joe" by this author, his gggggg-grandson, Jim, (JHB)] in liber 17, folio 74 of Maryland Land Patents. Joseph was transported 1671. I.e.: someone else paid his passage. (In his prefix Skordas says, "... 'transported' means that someone other than the person indexed paid for his passage. Quite often a person 'transported' is also described as a 'servant', which means that he had contracted to repay the cost of his transportation by agreeing to act as a servant for a period of years. Under certain of the Conditions of Plantation, a servant was entitled to claim fifty acres of land upon completing his period of servitude satisfactorily. Such claims are indicated by the word 'service'.") Courtesy JHB.

The early Billiters were Quakers, attested to by their participation in Third Haven Meeting, Talbot Co, MD in the late 1600's. Whether Old Joe was a Quaker upon arrival in 1671 or joined during Fox's missionary campaign along the colonial east coast shortly thereafter is a matter for debate. Fox was the founder of the Quakers in England.

Many have looked into the early Maryland Billiters: from the research of Marsha Bovey in the early 1980's to the Billiter Family listing in 'Colonial Families of the Eastern Shore of Maryland', Volume 5, Peden and Wright, Willow Bend Books, Westminster, MD, 1999 (Courtesy Gladys Treadway). The citations here for this family group and for son Edward's line to Joseph's g-grandson, Edward, mainly follow the latter source, since it is concise and fairly exhaustive.

Names of the children and their birth dates are in Third Haven records. Joseph's approximate date of death is taken from the fact that Third Haven Meeting showed concern for the Widow Billeter on 21 August 1687.

Joseph probably came from England, though genealogies and related correspondence attending Marsha Bovey's early research state, sans sources, that Old Joe was from Mannedorf, Canton Zurich, Switzerland. This 'Swiss origin' assertion for Old Joe probably stems from the influential Swiss genealogists, Julius Billeter Sr and Jr. They, professional genealogists, had stated that the Billiter/Billeter name was 'strictly Swiss', and many of us took them at their word, which now (December, 2000) seems to be mistaken in the case of the early Billiters of Maryland.

"The Billeterers from Mannedorf and the Zweifelers from Linthal" by Julius C. Billeter, 1984 published by Joseph Lyon & Associates, Salt Lake City. This is a genealogy going to the very early 16th century for Julius' family. Mannedorf is in Canton Zurich. There is no mention of emigration to America that would associate this family with ours. Some noteworthy extracts:

P. 65. "The Billeterers were early settlers in Mannedorf, having come originally from Bilten, canton Glarus. The name is believed to signify someone who came from Bilten. The Billeterers, sometime spelled Billiter, ..."

P. 67. "Shortly after the Billeterers established themselves in Mannedorf, one branch of the family left Mannedorf and settled in the city of Zurich." (From context this was prior to 1520 - JHB)

P. 68. "There is in the city of London a complex of buildings and streets named Billiter. Although the spelling is very similar, no connection with the family name Billeter has been established." (P. 69) "... Although the origin is not known, it suggests the name Billiter might be a derivative of Bell-zeter - a bell founder."

P. 71. begins a discussion of the several Billeter coats of arms with drawings. Courtesy JHB.

Julius' comment about Bell-founding is important, and Middle English etymology seems to confirm that 'Billiter' is derived from the occupation Bell-founder, or Bell-yeter. William le Belyotar is mentioned somewhere in English records in 1247, as is Robert le Bellegeter in 1283, making the first mentions of the name in England older than that of the Swiss by more than a century. Courtesy RuthAnn Billiter Francis and JHB. (Etymology: see OED)

Joseph was involved in land transactions in the Delmarva in just a few years after arriving in the Maryland colony.

The mention of a John Billiter, rather than Joseph, is interesting. Is this simply a 'scriveners error' or were there other Billiters in the colonies (VA or MD) contemporary with, or earlier than, Old Joe's arrival in 1671? Peden and Wright found an 'unplaced' Billiter in their genealogy: 'Stephens Billtor, who appeared in a list of debts in the estate of Edward Coppedge of Kent Co, on 8 Apr 1676. ['Inventories and Accounts', abstracted by Skinner.]

Joseph married Elizabeth FULLER about 1674.

They had the following children:

- 2 M i Joseph BILLITER was born on 17 Aug 1677 in Talbot, Md, USA.
- 3 F ii Elizabeth BILLITER was born on 13 Sep 1679 in Talbot, Md, USA.
- + 4 M iii Thomas BILLITER
- + 5 M iv Edward BILLITER
- 6 F v Grace BILLITER was born on 13 Mar 1685/1686 in Talbot, Md, USA.

IGI: Married Saint Peters Parish, Talbot, Maryland.
The ruin of St. Peter's Episcopal church is visible at a small historic site on the east side of the highway a few miles south of Easton, MD. There's a cemetery adjacent to the ruin and we (Jim, Ellen, and Lucy in 1993) looked for Billiter graves, finding none. Many of the tombstone markings were unreadable.

Grace married John MICHALL on 02 Sep 1704 in Talbot, Md, USA.

Descendants of Joseph Billiter, 'Old Joe', and Elizabeth Fuller

Flourished Maryland and Delmarva in the late 1600's

(Enter Old Joe's and Elizabeth Fuller's descendancy genealogy from the Contents link below.)

Joseph Billiter lived from 1671 to his death about 1687 on Maryland's Eastern Shore on the Delmarva Peninsula. He immigrated to Lord Baltimore's colony in May, 1671, probably as an indentured servant, and probably from England.

Old Joe's arrival in the early Maryland Colony is recorded in the State Archives at Land Patents, Liber 17, Folio 74.

Upon arrival in the Maryland Colony Joseph Billiter and Phillip Sutton were 'servants' in Robert Farrington's household which included Farrington's wife, Ann, and daughter Jane.

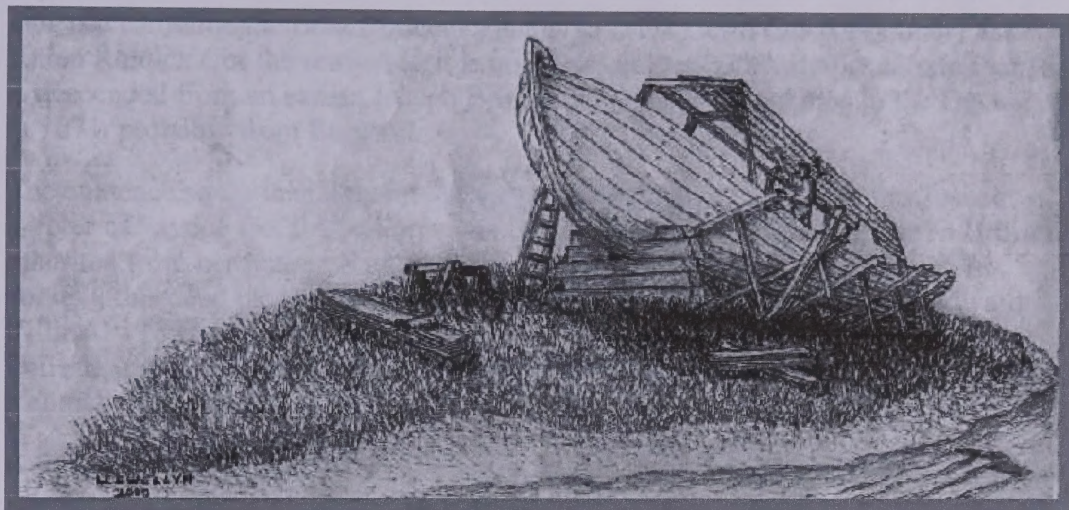

The early Billiters were Quakers, attested to by their participation in Third Haven Meeting, Talbot Co, Maryland Colony in the late 1600's. Whether Old Joe was a Quaker upon arrival in 1671 or joined during Fox's missionary campaign along the colonial east coast shortly thereafter is a matter for debate. Fox was the founder of the Quakers in England in 1652, and he and some of his followers visited Maryland's Eastern shore c February-March 1672. See Fox's autobiography.

Two of Old Joe's children, Thomas and Grace, were married in the Church of England (St Peter's Parish) in the early 1700's. This is probably a consequence of the imposition of the state church about 1694 by the Archbishop of Canterbury and the English Crown on Maryland, previously tolerant of all religions (or at least those which espoused a Christian-Trinitarian view) from the time of Maryland's founding by the Catholic Calverts, the several Lords Baltimore. Several CofE ministers had reported to the Archbishop that the Maryland colonists were 'iniquitous' and desperately in need of CofE ministries, along with the 'livings' attendant to CofE ministers of the period. The Crown then imposed the state religion and a tax of 40 pounds of tobacco on each household to support the 'livings' of the ministers. Old Joe probably died in 1687, but he wasn't all that old, because he left a young family behind. Elizabeth Fuller Billiter and the children probably could not afford to support two religions, and one possessed the enforcement authority of the Crown.

A later Joseph Billiter, the boat builder on the Monongahela b c 1770, was one of Old Joe's and Elizabeth Fuller's great-great-grandchildren, and husband to Sarah Seward.

Joe the Boat Builder and Sarah Seward Billiter fl Belle Vernon, PA c 1796 - 1826.

Joe the Boat Builder is s/o Edward, s/o Edward, s/o Edward, s/o Old Joe Billiter fl Maryland 1671-1687.

"Joe Billiter at Work in Belle Vernon, circa 1802" by Donna Llewellyn Lester

Joseph Billiter lived from the 1790's into the late 1820's along the Monongahela River near where Interstate 70 now crosses it in the Pennsylvania town of Belle Vernon, aptly named for its beautiful vistas from the 200-300 foot heights above the river plain. In the heyday of keelboats and flatboats on 'western waters' (rivers west of the eastern continental divide) my great-great-great grandfather built some of those boats. He was also the first ferryman of the town, probably working with help from his wife, Sarah Seward Billiter, sons, and daughters, all within shouting distance of the present I-70 crossing.

Joe the Boat Builder was buried in Belle Vernon's first cemetery on Gould Hill, but his and many other graves were destroyed by developers probably in the early 1900's, as my brother, Ralph, and I sadly discovered on a visit there about 1990. Those developers (who should be thirteen times cursed with guilt) likely invented the fiction that the housing over Joe's grave in 'Seldom Seen' had been built over an Indian burial ground, as told to us around 1990 by the current owner-landlady. As if destruction of an Indian burial ground was in some way less dishonorable to the remains of the dead! Ralph and I informed her that the property rested on Belle Vernon's first cemetery, wherein our ancestors formerly reposed.

In Belle Vernon's favor we must gratefully commend and thank all the friendly residents who helped Ralph and me, complete strangers, in our ultimately futile quest for Joe's grave: a police lieutenant, the mayor, workers at the 'new' cemetery, librarians, and even some folks at the motel where we stayed overnight.

Whence came Joe the Boat Builder? Thanks to Dave Gerth (for the pointer) and Karen Romick (for the retrieval), it is now (November 2000) almost certain that Joe is descended from an earlier Joseph Billiter ('Old Joe') who arrived in the Delmarva in 1671, probably from England.

The evidence so far is mainly an 1824 deed in Bracken Co, KY that has Joseph Billiter of Fayette Co, PA selling some land that Joe's wife, Sarah Seward Billiter, inherited from her Father, Samuel Seward, along with eight of her siblings. In context, this deed places Joe the Boat Builder among the descendants of Edward Billiter [b 18 October 1683 Talbot Co, MD and s/o Old Joe m 1674 Elizabeth Fuller]. Some of Edward's descendants migrated to Stokes Co, NC, and then onto Kentucky and Pennsylvania.

Avid researchers of the Billiter tribe may note that another Joseph Billiter ('JoeJr' m Elizabeth Schaffer and s/o Joe the Boat Builder) was thriving in nearby Brown Co, OH at the time this important deed was executed in Bracken Co, Ky. That Joe cannot be the Joe Billiter of the deed, since we know that JoeJr was married to another woman, Elizabeth, when the 1824 deed was made. (Brown Co History. Courtesy Karen Romick.)

A thanks and a tip of the hat to the following people who have contributed significantly to the basic research of the Billiters of Maryland, Pennsylvania and North Carolina.

In alphabetical order:

And special recognition to Donna Llewellyn Lester for the artwork (published here with permission) depicting Joe the Boat Builder as a young man building a keelboat on the Monongahela River in Belle Vernon, PA. Her work conjures up new images of Joe for me. I see him there as a fairly young man, maybe in his early 30's, sleeves rolled up, perhaps around 1802, the father of five at that time, black hair (probably to start to gray when John was born in 1816), robust, hardened by outdoor work, but clever enough to have mastered the art of building river boats. Noah C Sr would be about a year old and he would be home with mother, Sarah Seward Billiter, his three young sisters, and Joseph Jr who is perhaps 7 years old at the time. I see Joe's next planks staged for work in the grass near the bow, a saw and some sawhorses, indicating that he is a meticulous organizer. The grass is lush, and the Mon is gurgling along merrily, so I'll guess Joe is working on a comfortable day in the spring, but sweating a bit nevertheless. It appears to be overcast, but not raining, so I imagine that Joe was happy to be alive on such a day as Donna depicted.

Also, Lucy Ann Billiter re-created, pixel-by-pixel, the Billiter Coat-of-Arms' shield reported by The Hall of Names Inc. folks to be the earliest for the name Billiter in England. It is shown at the top of this page.

CLAY COUNTY, INDIANA HISTORY 1880-1984

Although the Clay County Historical Society is responsible for this publication, in the final analysis we can not take full credit, because a number of those who must receive recognition for their labors were friends who did what they could out of the goodness of their hearts. There are also those who had compiled various histories from other attempts at producing a county history, notably the late Minnie Lewis, Ruth (Bard) Crary, and two tireless workers, Ruth Koehler and Ethel Ooley, and Margreta Harr who was our county Historian for the past decade, and who gathered stories and material and stored them until needed. While Mr. Travis' Preface describes the vagaries of his efforts toward a book of perfection, due to the fact that much of the material he felt necessary for his history was either destroyed or never recorded, we were able to find some of the facts we felt were needed. However, we expect to be peeking into the past for a great many facts we should have found about early places, happenings, industries, and people, and we hope to gather what we can for the next book, and to store and file them properly, to be available as needed. Records are highly important in all parts of our county, and the end papers at the back of the book are designed to help you all to keep your records up to date.

Our thanks are due and sincerely extended to those who believed in this project, and responded by their assistance in this undertaking.

Thanks also to Taylor Publishing Co.
for their guidance and patience,
and for Thomas Friedlund,
Publication Consultant
